Global Reach

The CLADEA 2026 International Congress will bring together academic leaders, researchers, executives, and representatives from higher education institutions in Latin America and around the world to reflect on the major challenges facing contemporary societies.

Under the theme “Fostering Leaders for Technological, Demographic, and Economic Transition with a Human Touch,” the conference will provide a space for dialogue and knowledge exchange aimed at strengthening the role of business schools and universities in training professionals capable of leading transformation processes in a dynamic and ever-changing global environment.

We will feature renowned companies in the field of management from business schools.
